

THIS is from Hawaii, as all this column will be for perhaps two more weeks.

All tourist resorts have their boosters, but certain Hawaiian boosters have discovered perhaps the most original "talking point" of them all. In Hawaii, they say, you can escape jazz! There are, to be sure, hotel dance orchestras in Honolulu which perform play jazz for visitors who would not know how to dance to anything else. But they play it apologetically, and none too well, as good musicians should. And generally, even tourist commercialism finds it profitable to banish the jazz.

Possibly this is the only accessible spot on earth still relatively uninfected. The plaintively Hawaiian music has gone all over the world, and even chance visitors are already familiar enough with it to want to hear it on its native soil.

Probably it could not happen now, even in Hawaii, but the writer recalls, a few years ago, attending a jazz concert in Honolulu with one of the most cultivated ladies in the islands who had, until then, never heard jazz. This was from a college glee club, stopping over one day on their way to the Orient, and naturally they jazzed the jazz as only college boys can.

It was interesting to note the reaction of a cultivated and sensitive but wholly unprepared mind. The comment was, "Starting, but interesting." There was no suggestion that it was music.

THIS Polynesian music, of which the Hawaiian is the only form familiar to the outside world, is an interesting development.

Originally the Polynesian peoples had chants as primitive as those of African savages, with a scale of only four notes. One can hear chants in Nubia and in Fiji which a Western ear could scarcely tell apart. The missionaries had difficulty teaching them the Western scale. But when they once learned it, their inherent artistic genius caused them to develop it in forms more delicate and melodious than any of the missionaries knew. The world knows the plaintive Hawaiian form. In Fiji it is more baroque. The Fijians are only partly Polynesian, and are mostly of negroid blood.

One of them intones the melody in a way familiar in the singing of American negroes, while the others "boom-boom" the accompaniment in constantly accelerated "4-4" time, in a way that belongs distinctly to the jungle. Yet the air itself is probably recognizably derived from some familiar Methodist camp-meeting hymn.

In Tahiti it takes the form of orgies of singing "hymenes." All are totally different from the original native chant, but all are also refinements of the early nineteenth century Protestant church music from which they are derived.

HAWAII, like California, has a season when it is at its best absolutely, and another when it seems best by contrast. When you come in January out of the frozen East into blooming California, the contrast is overwhelming. But to the resident, California is then not at its best, but at its worst. Merely the difference between its best and its worst is so much less than that of the colder zones.

But if you would see California at its absolute best, come when the East is also at its best, or, perhaps, a month earlier. The contrast is not so great, for the East is blooming and beautiful then, too; but, omitting comparisons, California's beauty is then supreme.

So with Hawaii. The greatest contrast is to come to this winterless land from a frozen Northern winter.

But the time to see tropical Hawaii at its uncomparable best is in the summer, when most of America is also tropical. Just now the ponciana regia is blooming at its best—great trees, all one mass of vivid scarlet—the "golden shower" and "pink shower" wave their masses of bloom; the hibiscus hedges, the fragrant plumerias or frangipanis, and the many-colored creton plants are at their best; the pineapples, alligator pears and mangoes are ripe; the climate is warm, but not oppressive, and the country supremely beautiful. Do not hesitate to come to Hawaii in the summer, its most beautiful season.

ALLEGED 'PETTING PARTY' PEST SHOT

CANTON, O., July 20.—Guy Shaw, 46, who, according to authorities, had made a living by blackmailing members of "petting parties" along highways, was found shot to death today in a roadside ditch near here.

Sheriff C. N. Kirk announced Shaw's slayer would not be prosecuted if he would come into the open and testify against the alleged blackmailers, three of whom already are under arrest.

The suspects in the blackmail gang told Kirk that Shaw was shot by one of two automobile "petters," from whom he is said to have demanded "bush money."

Colorado Meeting Set for August

LONG BEACH, July 20.—A conference between legislative representatives of Nevada, Arizona and California will be held August 3, to discuss the Colorado river project. Gov. Friend W. Richardson announced here today. The conference will be held at Sacramento, in the presence of the Senate joint legislative committee, the governor said, and will have as its purpose the ironing out of difficulties arising over the water project.

Develop Process To Freeze Flame In Oil Outbreaks

LONDON, July 20.—A fire extinguisher has been invented for use in petrol storerooms, oil tanks and other structures containing inflammable substances.

Directed upon a blaze these devices actually freeze the flames to death, it is claimed. A very cold and dense carbon dioxide gas is released so that all oxygen is blocked, and the fire, with no oxygen to feed on, dies out. This happens no matter how combustible the material burning may be.

During the tests even a burning oil can was extinguished.

SCIENTISTS TELL OF EVOLUTION

stands in the first rank among the natural laws, not only in its range of applicability, but in the extent of its validity, the extent to which it may lay claim to rank as an established law. It is the one great law of life. It depends for its validity, not upon conjecture or philosophy, but upon exactly the same sorts of evidence as do other laws of nature.

"Anthropology reveals the fact that man closely resembles certain members of animal worlds in every bone and organ of his body. There are differences, but they are differences of degree rather than of kind. These animals most closely resembling man are the anthropoid apes. While they are similar, yet it is evident that man's line of descent is not through any of these anthropoids. It does appear, however, that man and the other primates have a common precursor."

"Anthropologists accept evolution as the most satisfactory explanation of the facts relating to the universe, to our world and all life on it."

DARROW CITED FOR CONTEMPT

ence Darrow last Friday which resulted in the Chicago lawyer being cited for contempt of court.

Darrow-Raulston Dialogue

Mr. Darrow—"Counsel well knows what the judgement and verdict in this case will be. We have a right to present our case to another court and that is all we are after. And they have no right whatever to cross-examine any witness when we are offering them simply to show what we expect to prove."

Judge Raulston—"Colonel, what is the purpose of cross-examination?"

Darrow—"The purpose is to be used in the trial."

Judge Raulston—"Well, isn't it an effort to ascertain the truth?"

Mr. Darrow—"No it is an effort to show prejudice. Nothing else. Has there been any effort to ascertain the truth in the jury? Why not bring in the jury and let us prove it?"

Judge Raulston—"Courts are a mockery—"

Mr. Darrow—"They are often that, your honor."

Judge Raulston—"When they permit cross-examination for the purpose of creating prejudice."

Mr. Darrow—"I submit, your honor, that there is no sort of question, that they are not entitled to cross-examine; that all this evidence is to show what we expect to prove and nothing else, and can be nothing else."

Proof In Affidavits

Judge Raulston—"I will say this—if the defense wants to put their proof in the record in the form of affidavits only, they can do that. If they put the witnesses on the stand and the state desires to cross-examine them, I shall permit them to do so."

Mr. Darrow—"We object to it and then take an exception."

Judge Raulston—"You, sir, always expect this court to rule correctly."

Mr. Darrow—"No, sir, we do not. (Laughter.)"

Judge Raulston—"I suppose you anticipated it?"

Mr. Darrow—"Otherwise we would not be taking our exceptions here, your honor. We expect to protect our rights in some other court. Now, that is plain enough, isn't it? Then we will make statements of what we expect to prove. Can we have the rest of the day to draft them?"

Judge Raulston—"I would say—"

Mr. Darrow—"If your honor takes a half day to write an opinion—"

Judge Raulston—"I have not taken."

Mr. Darrow—"We want to make statements here of what we expect to prove."

Judge Raulston—"I hope you do not mean to reflect upon the court."

Mr. Darrow—"Well, your honor has the right to hope."

Judge Raulston—"I have a right to do something else, perhaps."

In Re Annexation of South Santa Ana

I notice that an edict has been issued by the real estate fraternity that the district south of Santa Ana be annexed to the city. It is also recorded that the chief executive of the municipal assessment concern fired an ultimatum that we suburbanites will receive the official embrace, provided that we first organize for all improvements, paving, sewers, tear out our present water mains and assess our selves for larger ones, etc.

On reading the foregoing programs for our welfare, we the aforesaid suburbanites, none of whom has been asked, consulted or even honored with a diplomatic feeler, are forced to exclaim with Mercutio, "A plague on both your houses!"

Perhaps we should stand, cap in hand, and exhibit gratitude and awe at being the subjects of the sage counsel of the cumulative brain power of the Associated Realtors. Perhaps, not being addicted to the habit of thinking for ourselves, being still in the kindergarten stage of civic evolution with the faint glimmerings of intelligence of a Tennessee legislature, we cannot grasp the chunks of wisdom dropped on us from lofty pinnacles, and yet we shamelessly confess that we are not bursting with the desire to render tribute or charity to the lean tax coffers of Santa Ana.

However, perhaps the prominent realtors were right in not consulting us and doing our thinkin' for us, for we are but a plain lot, who wear their pants in their boots and boycott Gilliths. We are wedged in 'twixt the culture of "Santy Any" and the proud Castilians of Delhi. Thus we merely exist on the outer fringe of civilization's robe, and the opportunity to play a minor role in our neighboring ballwick and assume future municipal debts should be glory enough—not to be sneezed at.

As for police protection, did anyone at any time ever see an American Bobby walk a beat in a residential district of Santa Ana? We are as safe two miles away as anyone in a stone's throw of the city hall. As for fire protection, we have not had any losses since the first house went up, and a few dollars insurance will take care of us in the future. As for sewers our septic tanks are operating properly, and we recall that McFadden Addition No. 3 was promised sewers three years ago and hasn't got them yet, and we know of places for many years within the corporate limits of Santa Ana that are still without sewers. As for water, our supply is extra pure and has never caused a single illness. Our water supply is abundant in six out of the seven built-up subdivisions. By drilling deeper this one addition can get a large supply easier than Santa Ana can give it from its admitted scant supply.

Now the "Real Estaters" and the city fathers who have either moved and seconded or directed the terms of our annexation may be moved solely by a pure and noble altruism, and yet we strongly suspect that we have been offered the short end of a horse trade.

So we say, leave us alone, eradicate the meddler's itch. We do not desire an introduction to your tax gatherer. We are happy out here where the old alfalfa still casts its purple blooms, out here where the cooling breaths distilled on the bosom of the mighty Pacific first favor us with their cheering caresses.

In the belief that a plebiscite on the foregoing proposition would be a useless expenditure of coin of the realm, I conclude with the wish that we have made the best among the coast lightweights, it is said.

Young is charged with resisting an officer, being drunk and disturbing the peace.

According to Heffner, Young lived up to his reputation as one of the toughest lightweights on the coast, and it took several well-directed blows to the head to bring him to submission. He was brought to the Orange county jail.

Young recently came to the coast from Chicago, and since has made a name for himself as one of the best among the coast lightweights, it is said.

Now the "Real Estaters" and the city fathers who have either moved and seconded or directed the terms of our annexation may be moved solely by a pure and noble altruism, and yet we strongly suspect that we have been offered the short end of a horse trade.

So we say, leave us alone, eradicate the meddler's itch. We do not desire an introduction to your tax gatherer. We are happy out here where the old alfalfa still casts its purple blooms, out here where the cooling breaths distilled on the bosom of the mighty Pacific first favor us with their cheering caresses.

In the belief that a plebiscite on the foregoing proposition would be a useless expenditure of coin of the realm, I conclude with the wish that we have made the best among the coast lightweights, it is said.

Supervisors of the state, W. F. Mixon, secretary of the commission, advises boards that when the 1925 tax rates for the various counties are made up provision should be made for financing the maintenance of their own roads.

R. H. Gaines, of 934 West Pine street, was reported today as getting along nicely, following an operation yesterday at the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Members of Santa Ana Canton No. 18, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and the Lady Canton club, will gather in Orange county park tonight for a pot luck dinner and social coffee. Cream and sugar will be furnished. All are asked to meet at Fraternity knoll at 6:30 o'clock. Plans for the gathering are in charge of Herbert Myrick, captain of the canton and Mrs. Katherine Clark, president of the club.

Arrivals at the Hotel Santa Ana over the week-end include Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Shores; Vancouverer, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Covington, Redlands, S. A. Cheatham, Riverside, John C. Vauck, Chicago, and A. E. Lillie, Nogales, Ariz.

According to a report today by J. W. "Red" Trux, custodian of the public camp grounds at Newport Beach, 620 cars and 200 persons registered at the camp for Saturday and Sunday, one of the largest crowds of the season, except on the double holiday of the Fourth of July and Sunday. The bay front of the camp yesterday offered a typical "Coney Island" scene, with hundreds of bathers sporting in the water or on the sandy shore.

Dr. R. M. Fortier returned home yesterday after two weeks spent in the reserve officers training camp at Camp Lewis, Wash. Dr. Fortier holds the rank of lieutenant colonel in the Medical Reserve corps. Approximately 1500 men are at Camp Lewis, Dr. Fortier says.

That the county school consolidated budget for 1925-26 will be announced within two weeks, was the opinion of the county superintendent today. The new tax rate will be reported also at this time. Property valuations are being compiled now by the county assessor.

Eiks of Orange county will hold a dance in the Antlers club, Huntington Beach, Tuesday night, starting at 8:30 o'clock. All "Bills" and their friends are extended an invitation to be present at the affair.

Fifteen men students of the pomology class at the University of California arrived in Santa Ana today for a tour of the county. They will leave for Riverside county tomorrow noon. Among the places which the students planned to visit are the insectary at Anaheim, soil fertilizer plant at Anaheim, grape and avocado orchards at Lemon Heights, packing house of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association and the San Joaquin Fruit company's ranch at Tustin.

All former residents of Canon City and Fremont County, Colorado, are invited to meet in Bixby Park, Long Beach, on Sunday, August 2, for their annual picnic, according to invitations received in Santa Ana. Over 650 persons from this one district in Colorado are living in Southern California.

An adjourned meeting of the city council will be held this evening in the council chamber in the city hall. Franklin West will make his first appearance as city attorney at the meeting this evening. West is acting as city attorney during the absence of his brother, Bert, who has been granted a leave of absence until October 1.

According to A. B. Smith, assistant superintendent of Orange county highways, Orange county is not effected by the recent announcement of the state highway commission that it will not be able to take over any county roads for maintenance this year in accordance with the law passed by the 1925 legislature.

"Don't pay your taxes until October," says J. C. Lamb, county tax collector. The reason for the statement is that many persons each year try to clear up their indebtedness to the county before anyone knows how much they owe, according to him. The county assessor's office is now preparing the schedules, and no payments will be in order until after the summer months. Lamb agrees that the "advance payment" spirit is the right one, but nearly impossible when assessments are yet unmade.

A picnic to which all Masons and their families are invited will be held at La Vita Springs, Wednesday evening, under the auspices of Santa Ana pyramid No. 41 and Fulerton pyramid No. 40, Ancient Egyptian Order of Scouts, it was announced today. Included on the program will be dancing, with music furnished by the De Molay orchestra. The local pyramid's committee consists of R. H. Baldwin, chairman; Mike Pandell, C. J. Carlson and Lloyd Roach.

J. L. Hey and family, of West Sixth street, are home after spending two weeks at Forest Home.

Pictured in the accompanying sketch is a daring and ultra-advanced wool or worsted swimming suit for the young man or the man who declines to admit that he is old. The shirt is one of those intricate Fair Isle patterns, so named after the well-known island in the Scottish Shetlands the inhabitants of which are past-masters in knitting hosiery and sweaters of extraordinary design and coloring, usually Spanish or Moorish in theme. Fair Isle sweaters or "jumpers," as the English term them, have long led the world. The swimming shirts are a natural development.

CHICAGO BROKER LEAPS TO DEATH

CHICAGO, July 20.—E. W. Wagner, former head of the defunct brokerage concern of E. W. Wagner & Co., plunged from the 15th story of a loop office building at noon today.

Police, after quizzing relatives, were inclined to the belief that Wagner committed suicide.

Mrs. Anna Wagner told police she was apprehensive over her husband's mental condition. He had been despondent since failure of the brokerage concern two years ago.

Mrs. Virginia D. Whorton, until her death in Birmingham, Ala., the other day at the age of 101, had received a letter from her son in Dallas, Texas, every day for thirty years.

We Americans take to swimming as naturally as the Scotch take to oatmeal or the Swiss take to yodeling. We may well plume ourselves upon our undisputed leadership in the designing and making of beach and bathing clothes. We have given them that definite something-fit. We have capped both with comfort and added picturesqueness of color and pattern to lend character and personality.

New Postal Rates Fail In Purposes

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Postal rates under the present employees' salary increase have failed thus far to produce the anticipated revenue. Postmaster General New informed the special joint congressional committee today. New submitted figures which showed that receipts in May this year in 50 selected postoffices were only 1.87 per cent more than those in May last year.

David M. Rouse, of Orange, said to be the largest man in Orange county, and an extra in the movies, stands the chance of being the biggest man ever to enter the Orange county jail.

Rouse, who weighs almost 350 pounds, was arrested early yesterday on the El Modena grade by Ray Bradfield, state motorcycle officer, charged with speeding his light roadster 55 miles an hour.

Speeders who pass the 50-mile mark have in the past been receiving jail sentences in Justice Morrison's court, where Rouse has been cited to appear on July 24.

Should Rouse receive a jail sentence, jailers are wondering what provisions they will make to handle him, whether he will get a cell all to himself, or whether he will "fit" one of the regulation "berths."

BOY IS INJURED WHEN CARS CRASH

William Motley, 14, son of Dr. E. G. Motley, 424 South Broadway, was cut and bruised about the head, and several other children riding in the automobile driven by Dr. Motley were shaken up, when the car collided with a machine driven by Gus M. Knidschen, 41, of San Jacinto, late yesterday at the intersection of South Main and Camille streets.

The Motley boy was not seriously hurt and no one in the Knidschen car was injured, according to reports filed with the city police.

Dr. Motley charged that Knidschen violated the right-of-way, in giving a reason for the cause of the accident.

Court Notes

Damages Case on Trial

Trial of the case in which A. T. Pendleton, Placentia rancher, asks $26,678.61 from R. P. Bishop, W. T. Bishop and J. O. Koepfli, doing business under the name of Bishop and company, in Los Angeles, was proceeding today before Judge Z. B. West, department one, superior court.

The case is the outgrowth of an automobile accident July 14, 1924, at the intersection of Placentia road and Chapman avenue. Pendleton alleges that, as the result of the negligence of the driver of the Bishop truck, his car collided with the truck and that he suffered injuries to the extent of $25,000. The remainder of the claim consists of hospital and automobile repair bills and compensation for loss of time and use of his car.

In their answer, Bishop and company allege that the crash was caused by Pendleton himself, by reason of his poor eyesight and negligence. Head, Rutan and Scovel represent the plaintiff, while Daniel D. Stuart, Forgy and Reinhaus act as counsel for the defendants.

The first witness called was Dr. H. A. Johnston of Anaheim. Dr. Johnston said he treated Mr. Pendleton for fracture of the left arm, fracture of several ribs and fracture of the collarbone.

Granted Divorce

Lucy Sweet was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Charles H. Sweet, in a judgment filed with the clerk of the superior court today by Judge R. Y. Williams. The decree was granted when Sweet failed to oppose the petition when the case was heard Friday.

Fritz Reiner Directs Bowl Concerts For This Week

With tomorrow night's program at the Hollywood Bowl, will open the third successful week of the summer concert season, with Paul Reiner, guest-conductor. Reiner hails from Budapest and is but 37 years of age. Like many men of great success, Reiner is of small stature, but as Lloyd George once said: "They measure men from the shoulders up and not from the shoulders down."

Overflowing with music and music lovers, the Hollywood Bowl in its first two weeks of concerts, satisfied the spiritual hunger in the hearts of 150,000 people. Now comes the third week and Fritz Reiner, principal maestro of the season will again assume the director's stand.

Concerts throughout the summer will be given on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. The entire program for the coming week is as follows:

Tuesday, July 28, all Wagner program—Rienzi—Good Friday (Parsifal). Dreams—Tannhauser March. Intermission.

Entrance of the Gods into Valhalla—Ride of the Valkyries.

Menus for the Family

By SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Orange juice, creamed dried beef on toast, graham popovers, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Jellied veal loaf, brown bread and butter sandwiches, ginger cookies, lemonade.

Dinner—Lake trout stuffed and baked, scalloped potatoes, buttered steam beans, cucumber salad, sugar shortcake, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

With the exception of the stuffing in the first, the cucumber salad and the peach shortcake there are no dishes suggested in the day's menu unsuitable for a child as young as four years. Homemade lemonade can be given to a four-year-old child occasionally if the drink is not ice and contains only the juice of fresh lemons, sugar and water.

JELLIED VEAL LOAF

Knuckle of veal, 1-2 pounds lean meat, 3 hard-cooked eggs, 1 medium-sized onion, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 2 scant teaspoons salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper.

The knuckle must be opened in several places. Have the butcher saw through the bone. Wipe with a damp cloth and put into a kettle with the lean meat and onion.

Cover with boiling water and simmer over a low fire until tender.

Remove meat from liquor and chop very finely. Reduce stock to 1-1/4 cups and strain. Put slices of the eggs in the bottom of a mold. Sprinkle with parsley and cover with a layer of meat. Season with salt and pepper. Continue layers for lack of eggs and meat until all is used. Season each layer with salt and pepper and a sprinkling of parsley. The last layer should be of meat. Pour over strained stock, press with a plate and let stand several hours until cold. Put in the ice box to chill and turn flat side down on a platter to serve.

Care should be taken to remove all particles of skin or tissue when preparing the meat for chopping.

Four-Fruit Jelly

One quart strawberries, 1 quart red raspberries, 1 quart currants, 1 quart cherries measured after stoning, sugar.

Wash and hull berries. Save the juice from the cherries that escape while stoning. Pick currants from stems. Combine fruit and cherry juice and put into a jelly bag. Press hard and let drip.

When all the juice is out measure and use as many cups of sugar as there were cups of juice. Mix juice and sugar and put into smooth, broad sauceman. Bring quickly to the boiling point and boil rapidly until a little tries on a cold saucer. Jellies. Pour into stainless steel molds and refrigerate.

Noble and three high school girls, the Misses Catherine Lacy, Minerva Carpenter, and Elsie Harter, are assistant teachers or helpers in handicraft.

The favors were yellow and orange baskets, balloons and hats and Master Peter was showered with many gifts. Mrs. Flanagan was assisted in her duties of entertaining by Mrs. George Dean of Los Angeles.

Smallpox Germ Discovery Made

LONDON, July 20.—An important discovery, which is expected to have far-reaching results in the treatment of smallpox and kindred germ diseases, is to be announced this week by Dr. Mervyn Gordon, after three years of exhaustive research.

The National Research council, sponsored by the famous cancer experiments of Dr. W. E. Gye and J. E. Bernard has the report on Gordon's work.

Meantime, there is the possibility that cancer experiments will lead to a system of vaccination against the disease. Gye's work, it is understood, opens the road to such a method, but so far provides no cure for the dread ailment.

Gye and Barnard are reported to have accomplished the unique feat of photographing smallpox germs, thus permitting of a close study of this disease.

Judge Thomas Class

The members of the Judge W. H. Thomas Bible class of the First Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. L. Ward, 424 West Second street, for an all-day session tomorrow, July 21, the day to be passed with special prayer.

Grant Authority To Acquire Road

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Authority to acquire control of the Sacramento Northern railroad, by purchase of its capital stock, has been granted by the interstate commerce commission to the Western Pacific railroad. Authority also was granted to the Sacramento line to issue $1,000,000 of capital stock and $5,224,373 of first mortgage five per cent bonds.

Joseph, who has presided over the Savoy's cloakroom for 23 years, was called upon for an explanation. His reply elicited the fact that the electric footman—as the elevator is termed—connects with a room 100 feet above. Here, the hats and coats are brushed and then placed in velvet-lined niches until such time as a ticket, calling them down to their owners, is shot up through a pneumatic tube that runs alongside the elevators.

Joseph proudly related that on Derby night he disposed of 1200 hats and coats in an hour and 20 minutes. It is his secret cypher mark on the card that summons a hat back to the world above.

CHILD PLAYS CLASSICS WITH GREAT SKILL

OAKLAND GIRL IS MUSICAL PRODIGY; VISITS AT BEACH

ORANGE FRUIT MAN DIES AT NEWPORT

ORANGE, July 20.—While convalescing from an attack of influenza, Jack McInnes, fruit packer of Orange, died here suddenly Friday night at his beach cottage. Funeral services were conducted today from the Ellis funeral parlors in Orange.

McInnes had gone to the beach to escape the warm weather in recuperating his health. His recovery seemed certain, after surviving an attack of influenza for two critical weeks, but an unexpected sinking spell resulted in his death. For 30 years McInnes with his family had lived in Orange and the vicinity. He had built up a large business and become well known throughout Southern California as the head of the McInnes Packing company.

Patricia's mother is the teacher spoken of, for, although in the actual teaching of technic and scores, another woman must be given the credit, to even the most casual observer it is plain that Mrs. Duffey is the psychological background for the genius of her daughter. Mrs. Duffey radiates power and plenty; her very personality throws around her child an aura of greatness; it would be impossible for Patricia not to be great, much in the same way as Elysie Janis was made great.

Patricia is also a dancer of exquisite grace. She was given dancing by her mother to take the child's mind away from her music for certain correct intervals and she developed along the lines of esthetic dancing almost as quickly as she absorbed music. The child is of the poetic, "flowy" type. She looks rather as though her strength would be limited but such is not the case. In fact, the child wonder is a very strong little girl, evidently due to her dancing.

SPEEDER SHOWS CITATION AND ESCAPES FINE

ORANGE, July 20.—A speeder, charged with doing 29 miles across an intersection, faced Recorder G. W. Ingle and silently accepted whatever fate awaited him.

One arm hung somewhat limply at his side, with part of the hand cut away. On his face appeared a vivid scar.

The court, if it noticed the pitiful wounds, offered no remark, but the fine, which was only $10, mutely attested the fact that the court had taken cognizance of the accused motorist's malimed condition.

Then the motorist, who aside from admitting his guilt of the charge had remained silent, spoke: "Judge, would you allow me time to meet the fine. I have no funds at present?"

"This is not the custom of the court, but your request will be considered if you can furnish satisfactory references," Judge Ingle replied.

"This is the only reference I have on my person," the speeder remarked slowly extracting an envelope from his pocket.

The letter, bearing the official seal of the United States, was signed by President Calvin Coolidge.

Read by court attaches, it cited Raymond C. Boone, of Elsinore, California, to the navy cross for exceptional valor in action during the world war.

For Boone, the speeder, was a member of the marine corps during the late war, where, during the height of the American offensive, he had part of his right hand shot away and suffered 37 shrapnel wounds.

Despite wounds, he went into "No man's land" and assisted in bringing wounded comrades back to safety.

After being commanded by the court and Motor Officer Pat Hurd, who had arrested him, Boone departed a free man, with the charges against him obliterated from the record.

LORENA A WINS IN HYDROPLANE NEWPORT CLASH

Noble's Flying No. 112 Is First In Spirited Race With Jardine Star Boat

Ten sailing races and a speedy contest among power hydroplanes set Newport bay courses teeming with craft in Saturday and Sunday races held under the auspices of the Newport Harbor Yacht club and the Southland Sailing club.

The feature meet of Sunday's events was the special hydroplane race. Four boats went the 18 miles three lap course. The Lorena A driven by B. Meyers won in 25 minutes time, averaging 35 miles an hour. Others were the Smiling Dan of Richard Jones, second; Miss Hollywood of Vern L. Walker, third; and Quicksilver of William Harris, fourth.

In the Star boat sailing race Saturday Ralph C. Noble crossed the finish first in his No. 112. Only 15 seconds later came Vincent Jardine in No. 299. Spirited competition has been staged between these craft for the honors of being the entries in the Southern California Star boat clash at Newport August 1 and 2.

Bay sloop races were won by Felix Farwell's Mariposa in both the Saturday and Sunday events. The Mariposa sailed the 6 mile course Sunday in 1 hour 26 min. 48 sec. The Jean, sailed by R. M. Cook, came second and the Bowery Girl of R. H. Ames crossed third.

Other races of the Newport Harbor Yacht club Saturday were the Marion and Snowbird contests. All six boats in the Marion class finished in a close series. The Felix said by Ted Herzog captured the event with William Worcester's Grey Goose second and the B. B. B. of Joe A. Beck third.

Young Tom Webster in Snowbird 1 raced to first in 42 m. 50 s. over the three mile course. Sidney Maxwell in No. 7 was second and Lucy Hall in No. 4 third among the six entries.

A repeated victory was chalked up by Tom Webster sailing Snowbird 1 in Sunday's race. He made the 6 mile course in the record time of 53 m. 57 s. Sidney Maxwell's No. 7 did not press the winner in taking second. Snowbird No. 3 of Edward Warmington won third.

Star races for Sunday over the 10-mile Newport Harbor Yacht club were won by C. E. Landham's No. 298 sailed by Walter Lawrence. Vincent Jardine's 299 took second and No. 114 sailed by W. H. Hervey jr. was third.

Three races were run Sunday by the Southland Sailing club. In a special kicker event for youngsters Jack Luell took first. The boat driven by Del Herzog came in second and Jack Richards won third.

Thirteen entries in the handicap series for the Southland Sailing Club Farwell trophy made the event the most sharply contested on the program. Don Davidson's Don D sailed in first with his arch rival, the Grey Goose of H. M. Worcester, a close second. Joe Beck in the B. B. B. edged into third place.

Joe Ferguson's Fergie was victor in the Sea New race. Pal-O-Mine sailed by Frank Davenport was second and the Duncan's craft claimed third place honors.

GIRL CHAMPION OF TRACK HAS FEW SET RULES FOR TRAINING

HELEN FILKEY

The girl who established three world records in one afternoon for women track athletes—Helen Filkey of Chicago—doesn't follow very many set rules of training. "I always eat a steak three hours before every meet," she said. "Of course, I don't keep late hours and I get up at 7 o'clock every morning." She always practices with men, she says, because girls can't give her competition. In the above picture she is shown clearing a hurdle. She clips them close and makes no effort. She takes four strides between sticks whereas other girls take five.

MAJOR LEAGUE RACE CLOSEST IN LATE YEARS

PAINTERS HIT BALL HARD TO BEAT WOODMEN

The Shields Paint Co.'s baseball team ran wild at American Legion park here yesterday, piling up 20 runs and 18 hits on the Santa Ana Woodmen of the World while the local lodge aggregation was accumulating 8 tallies.

The Painters showered Eastman with base runs galore in the fourth and Alexander was rushed to his rescue, but proved wild and ineffectual. During his sojourn on the slab he issued eight complimentary tickets to first base.

"Tom" Reister wasn't much of a puzzle to the Woodmen but he kept his hits fairly well scattered while his teammates were giving him good support and piling up a tremendous lead for him. The Shields club failed to score in but two frames, the fifth and seventh.

Sinsley led the Shields batting orgy with four hits while Eastman and Schweitzer topped the Woodmen sluggers with four each. The box score:

WESTMINSTER TOO GOOD FOR JUNIOR C. C. AT EL MODENA

Westminster turned in its fifth consecutive victory and stayed right with Tustin at the head of the class in the Orange County Summer league when it whacked "Whitey" Spencer and the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce ball team out of the championship running by a score of 12 to 6 at Midway City yesterday afternoon. A good turnout watched proceedings.

Charlie Blaeholder went the whole route for the winners and while he was rapped for nine base knocks he was a stingy young man in the pinches. Some expert fielding, particularly by Page at shortstop, helped him out of a couple of tight places.

Spencer was not himself so Westminster made the blind portrider like it from the first round. Head negotiated the hassoocks in the opening canto and "Benny" Benedict clicked a double in the second with the bases drunk that virtually sewed things up. Another marker in the third and three more in the fourth sent Spencer scurrying from the ridge. He was succeeded by the mustached Kidman who got by fairly well until the ninth when Westminster engaged in another batting orgy and rolled their total up to twelve.

The Junior Chamber clubbers assembled some blows in the third for three runs and added single counters in the fourth, fifth and ninth.

Westminster now has but to win its next game to be assured of at least a tie for first place in the Orange County Summer league. The defeat eliminated the Santa Ana nine unless both Westminster and Tustin lose next Sunday. In that case a Junior Chamber win would put the teams in a three-cornered tie.

LET CONTRACT FOR PAVEMENT ON 2 STREETS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 20.

—Continuing with their paving program, city trustees recently let the contract for the paving of two more streets in this city. Work on Twelfth street and Walnut avenue will start soon. Twelfth street is to be paved from Ocean avenue to Orange avenue. Walnut avenue will be paved from Eleventh to Seventeenth streets.

Starting in 1922, local city councilmen have carried one of the largest paving programs ever fostered by any city of the size of Huntington Beach, it is claimed. During the past three years a total of 2,172,500 square feet of asphaltic concrete paving five inches thick has been laid in this city.

Narrowest Street 40 Feet Wide
More than a half million dollars have been spent on paving. During the three year period 13 miles of pavement has been laid. The narrow street is 40 feet wide and the widest strip of pavement in the city is 80 feet and stretches for nearly three miles along the front of the city. The actual cost of paving improvements in this town since the start of the paving program has been $626,100.

Before the start of the paving program there was a total of 1,448,000 square feet of paving. The cost of the paving previous to 1922 was $308,000, according to figures given out by the city engineer's office.

Thirteen streets have been paved or are under construction since the start of the paving program. Before that time only seven or eight streets were paved. City trustees plan to continue the paving program until all streets in the city are paved.

Ocean Avenue 5 Miles Long
The longest paved street in Huntington Beach is Ocean avenue, a part of the state highway. The road stretches for nearly five miles along the coast. For nearly three miles it is the widest piece of road on the coast highway. The road contains more than 900,000 square feet of paving material.

The paving program started in 1922 with the paving of Ocean avenue. Since that time, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Fourteenth, Seventh, Tenth and Fifth streets have been paved as well as Orange, Palm, Walnut and California avenues. Bids have been let for two other streets and the trustees will soon call for bids for the paving of Olive avenue from First street to Twenty-third street.

Coupled with the paving program is a step which is intended to make this city known as one of the prettiest and best lighted towns on the coast, the installation of ornamental street lights. In the paving program which has been carried on there has been a total of 420 lights installed. More than 150 gas lights, which were already in the city, also add to the total number of street lights.

SHEPHERD READY FOR ESTATE FIGHT

CHICAGO, July 20.—Beaten in his first attempt to obtain the $1,000,000 McClinton estate, William D. Shepherd today prepared for a long drawn out court fight that may take several years.

Probate Judge Henry Horner decided that it was up to Shepherd to show sufficient evidence that he had not used "undue influence" in his millionaire ward, Billy McClinton, to have him sign the will that left practically all his money to him.

Sherpherd's next chance is in the circuit court, where he may present more complete evidence. If he is beaten in that court, his next step is in the Illinois supreme court.

But success in either of these courts still will not give Shepherd possession of the fortune. Miss Isabelle Pope, the pretty society girl who tried to marry Billy on his death bed, will fight for her dower rights, claiming that Shepherd prevented the marriage.

Maccabee Women Have Picnic On Beach Saturday

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 20.—Members of the local review of the Woman's Benefit Association of Maccabees held their first annual anniversary picnic and annual meeting Saturday. The affair which was in charge of the officers of the organization, continued throughout the day.

More than 50 members of the association turned out in full uniform to march down Main street. Following the short parade, a drill was given by the drill team in charge of Capt. Lola Ament. The drill was given at the entrance to the pier. Many other Maccabees were present, including members from Watts, Los Angeles Banner No. 3, Alhambra, Santa Ana, and Long Beach.

Following the drill, the Maccabees adjourned to the picnic tables beneath the pier, where a luncheon was enjoyed. Sports filled the afternoon program. Mrs. Iva Hazard was the winner of the nail driving contest. Mrs. E. Jenkins won the free for all foot race. One of the members from Watts was the winner of the fat women's race. Mrs. Cecil Green won the sash race. Boys and girls races with a penny scramble for the smaller children concluded the afternoon program.

Members of the Santa Ana review of Maccabees will be the guests of the local review at their regular meeting next Wednesday, it was announced by Mrs. C. B. Leach, commander. Mrs. L. Stevens, lieutenant commander, and Mrs. Rose Miller, junior commander, will assist in preparing the program for Wednesday.

LARGE TRACT ON SHORELINE SOLD

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 20.

—More improvements will rise soon along the ocean front between this city and Newport Beach, it was reported today, following the sale of a large tract of land, known as the Sea Shore Colony and El Moro tract, near Newport Beach, by local men.

The land was owned jointly by William Meredith, J. E. O'Donnell, and James Macklin. Macklin retained his portion of the estate, which was purchased by the three several months ago. The other two men sold their portions to A. W. Hoggott of Long Beach and W. A. Smith of Fullerton. Smith and Hoggott are planning immediate subdivision with an expenditure of several thousand dollars.

Work on the tract will begin at once. When completed there will be about 600 lots in the subdivision, it is reported.

Begin Work On Stewart Bungalow

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 20.

—Work was started today on a five room bungalow being built for H. A. Stewart by George A. Green, local contractor. The house is located at 225 Fifteenth street and, according to reports, will cost about $3000.

Several building permits for private garages have been issued during the past few days. Many people are making additions to their residences. J. O. Gerry of 519 1/2 Lake avenue was today building a garage which he estimated would cost $150.

James Ballard, 518 Tenth street; Lydia E. Dawbendick, 617 California avenue; Charles Derigo, 517 Sixth street, are numbered among those who have secured permits to make additions to their homes.

J. E. Heying, 318 Sixteenth street, and J. R. Collins, 722 Alabama avenue have recently been granted permits to build private garages.

NEW RICH ARE MADE, DAYTON TRIAL RESULT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 20.—Members of the local review of the Woman's Benefit Association of Maccabees held their first annual anniversary picnic and annual meeting Saturday. The affair which was in charge of the officers of the organization, continued throughout the day.

Two more life guards have been employed here for daily duty, according to a report today by Chief Guard Fred Ott. One of the new guards has been stationed at Seventeenth street and patrols the beach from Eleventh street an Twenty-third street.

Delbert "Bud" Higgins and Arthur Bergman are the two new men employed. Both are local boys. The employment of the one guard was made necessary Saturday when blood poison set in a cut sustained by Ott July 4, while rescuing the body of one of two girls who drowned here then. Ott cut a bad gash in the great toe of his right foot.

Additional guards were employed yesterday to care for the Sunday crowd. Hot weather during the past two weeks has been bringing large crowds to the beach. It was because of the large number of people who were in swimming daily near Seventeenth street and Twenty-third street that a second guard was added to the force. Ott, despite his injuries, is on duty daily.

Having listed the successes three of them—let the failures be listed.

To begin with, there is the preacher-turned-hotel-manager, who took over a dilapidated former hotel, fitted it with new furniture and brought a cook from Chattanooga. All during the trial his business has not been enough to pay for the cook's salary. There were too many rooms available in private homes for the visitors to care to become guests of the hotel.

Then here is Dick Carter, the "world's champion Bible reader," who came all the way from Detroit to give treatments to put a patient in communication with God in 40 days. He stuck up his sign at the entrance to the courthouse lawn, but nary a penitent came to see him. He pulled up his sign Friday and went back to Detroit.

Those who lost the heaviest were the soft drink concessionaires, who rented ground from the city at $3 a foot, had screen-in stands built at considerable cost, filled barrels and boxes with ice and bottled drinks, put on their aprons and waited for the crowd that failed to materialize.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Although encountering increased foreign competition, American motorcycles are being well received in the world's markets, according to the department of commerce. American ability to produce high-grade machines at a price well under those of foreign made motorcycles should result in manufacturers in this country capturing new markets, the department predicted.

SANTA BARBARA.—The board of public safety and reconstruction, which was organized immediately following the earthquake and has been functioning in an advisory capacity since that date, was dissolved by the city council at a meeting and will cease to act unless called together again by the city council. The members of the board dissolved by the council are Dr. Rexford Brown, Walter Erwin, Jay Smedley, Farold Chase, E. F. MacDonough, Fred Jackson, H. S. Pritchett, Frederick Forrest Peabody, George Owen Knapp, Bernard Hoffman, George Edwards, Maj. Gen. E. B. Babitt and Herbert Nunn. It is not probable that the board will be needed further, members of the council stated following their meeting this forenoon, because the city council now has the affairs of the city well in hand and is able to care for all the needs of the city during the reconstruction period.

The Aqua hotel likewise took in more money during the 10 days of the trial than during any 10 months previously or in the future. With rates more than doubled, and every room filled, two in a room, and with even the bathrooms and corridors provided with beds, Manager W. A. Nightingale has been more than paid for the improvements he made.

"Hamburger George," whose name is J. B. Roberts, and who has spent the last 40 years feeding circuses and fairs, came out on top with his barbecue stand on the courthouse lawn.

ALHAMBRA.—The cost of clearing Alhambra's vacant lots has run well over a half million dollars so far this summer, judging by estimates made and records kept by Fire Chief Frank A. Bovet.

Under a city ordinance, property owners are allowed ten days after receiving notice to clean their vacant lots. If they fail to do so the city can have the work done and charge the cost to the owner. This cleaning work is done by contract, under the supervision of the fire department.

With a much scattered territory, the fire department's records showed at least 2500 vacant lots requiring the be cleared on June 15. Since then, this number has been reduced day by day at the rate of about 125 lots a day. The cost charged against the owner of the average city lot is $2.75. This would make the contract work done under the supervision of the fire department alone worth $42,500.

In the superior court the prosecutor and his deputies tried 35 cases in which 23 victories were obtained. There were 11 acquittals and in one case the jury disagreed. Seventeen cases were dismissed and 41 prisoners pleaded guilty to the various crimes of the law.

'FEET FACTS' RELEASED BY BOOT DEALERS OF SANTA ANA

Declare Shoe Styles Differ In Various Portions of Country at All Times

BONES ARE CAUSE OF PEDAL TROUBLE

Poor Care Results in Many Ailments, Tests in New York of Children Prove

If anyone in Santa Ana desires out-of-the-ordinary information that will considerably increase his store of knowledge, he should make a trip down town and visit his shoe merchant. Few persons probably realize the important and interesting facts connected with the manufacture and distribution of the hoof-covers that most folk are obliged to wear. A few obliging boot salesmen released some of these facts today.

One local shoe merchant informed an inquirer that 218 different operations are necessary in the manufacture of one pair of ladies' shoes. The cowboy, the railroad, the slaughter house, the training material man, the tannery employee, as well as the shoe factory worker, pool their efforts to produce the finished product.

"Most people are interested in shoe prices," said a salesman. "It is hard for many of them to understand that the price of a shoe depends nearly 90 per cent on the labor cost. If a factory worker would appraise a shoe probably he would give most pairs a value of $1.50," he added.

Much Skill Required

The assertion was made that scme shoes, although infrequently, arrive at the dealer's place of business with hair still protruding from the leather. This necessitates a little tonsorial treatment on the part of the store employees. A knowledge of skinning is a pre-

FAIR SLOGAN SUGGESTIONS ARE SOUGHT

CAREFUL AUTOMOBILE CHECK SHOWS EXTENT OF TRAFFIC ON VARIOUS COUNTY HIGHWAYS

Persons who frequently try to estimate the volume of automobile traffic on Orange county highways now have something definite on which to base their guesses, following a traffic census taken recently by J. L. McBride, county engineer and announced today.

More than 7500 cars passed the foot of South Main street on a recent Sunday. Most of them could be observed at 10 p. m. when the man making the count retired.

In a 16-hour count of the cars on Orangethorpe avenue, a busy road between Anaheim and Fullerton, 3862 were checked one Sunday. The week-day traffic was about 1000 cars less. More than 280 trucks were on the road the preceding Saturday. Most of the counts were made during the latter part of June and do not include July 4 increases.

The Santa Ana canyon road seems to be a favorite with truck drivers. Nearly 12 per cent of all the traffic on this road was found to be of the freight type. When the count was started at 6 ing each hour, and no let-up was observed at 10 a. m., 100 cars were passing. Most of them could be observed at 10 p. m. when the man making the count retired.

Week-day traffic on the Anaheim-Olive road, as checked at the Santa Ana river bridge, indicates a total of 1188 cars every 16 hours. Sunday motorists add approximately 1000 to this number.

The report bearing these traffic truths is embodied in the engineer's recommendations in the budget, which is now before the board of supervisors for their consideration. According to McBride, the reason for high maintenance costs can be found in the amount of traffic passing over the roads, and several improvements, such as widening and extending the highways, have been advised with especial reference to the traffic census.

What prove more effective than direct violence in an attempt to force the removal of foreigners, are the efforts of the riot leaders to force native servants to leave the employ of their European masters, which, if carried into effect, would develop into an intolerable situation. Agitation to that end has been carried on among the servants of British and Japanese employers, the letter adds.

Russian Naval Instructors

Adding to the belief that Russia may have a "finger in the pie," lending indirect support to the anti-foreign movement, is the fact that Russian officers are employed as instructors in the Chinese naval academy, and thus are in close touch with the students.

There is nothing of a concrete nature that connects Russia with the recent riots, the letter adds.

Americans Are Exempt

Thus far, American residents have been exempt from the hardships and inconveniences placed upon other foreigners, a circumstance which may be ascribed to the traditional friendship which always has existed between the United States and China, the letter pointed out.

The Chinese themselves deny that the Russian Bolsheviks are mixed up in the present trouble, although reports among the foreign population are to the contrary. The letter adds that thus far there have been no hostile demonstrations toward American citizens.

Silk Crop Ready For World Marts

OROVILLE, July 20.—Oroville's first commercial silk crop is now ready for the silk marts of the world. Announcement that a hatch of almost a million silkworms had completed spinning was made by Mrs. Edith Cheesewright, of the Seriterre company, at the farm east of Oroville.

The cocoons have been stilled and are ready to ship as soon as the board of directors of the Seriterre company decide whether the consignment will be sent to Oriental or European markets.

The venture on a commercial scale, after several years of experimentation, is a remarkable success, Mrs. Cheesewright states, not only from the quality of the silk, but of the low cost of production and upkeep.

The consignment is the largest single match of silkworms ever raised under one roof in the history of the industry.

CHINESE NEWS REPORTS BORNE OUT IN LETTER

Santa Ana Man Receives Missive From His Parents, Located at Swatow

Confirming press dispatches, describing the anti-foreign and revolutionary activities in China, is news contained in a letter received here by Dr. Frank Ashmore, well known Santa Ana physician, from his parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Ashmore, of Swatow, China.

Dr. William Ashmore, well known missionary worker, who has spent about 45 years in the Orient, is in charge of the Baptist foreign mission in Swatow, a treaty port located about 170 miles northeast of Hongkong. He ranks as one of the leading churchmen in China, and is at present engaged in the translation of the Bible from the original Hebrew into a South Chinese dialect.

Reaches Southern China

The letter goes on to say that the anti-foreign movement, which began in Shanghai, has reached the southern part of China. At the time of writing the letter, June 13, a great demonstration, expressing sympathy with the Shanghai strikers, was being staged by the students in Swatow, including those attending the missionary and Christian educational institutions.

While press dispatches have indicated that the anti-foreign feeling was directed principally against Japan and England, the letter declares that the opinion among the leaders is divided, and not a few declare that China has as much to fear from Russia as from other countries.

Russian Naval Instructors

Adding to the belief that Russia may have a "finger in the pie," lending indirect support to the anti-foreign movement, is the fact that Russian officers are employed as instructors in the Chinese naval academy, and thus are in close touch with the students.

There is nothing of a concrete nature that connects Russia with the recent riots, the letter adds.

gales of laughter that swept through the audience proved conclusively that this dynamic comedian is coming to the front by leaps and bounds.

There is an individuality about Johnny's comedy that one doesn't find in the repertoire of the other screen comics. It is different and original, so much so that the freshness of it is decidedly welcome. In "The Early Bird" Hines portrays the role of a milk driver who after falling in love decides that the only way to actually marry the girl of his dreams is by making something of himself financially. How he accomplishes his ambition is all deftly told in as amusing a tale as one could wish for. The picture has its dramatic moments also, and there's many a thrill intermingled with the comedy to make "The Early Bird" as interesting and entertaining a feature as we have witnessed in some time.

Aside from being delightfully funny "The Early Bird" is chockfull of hectic action which starts at the beginning and does not let up until the very end. The picture carries one along breathlessly and between the speedy action and plot there are a host of uproariously funny situations that really force one to laugh heartily.

FIVE ACTS OF VAUDEVILLE AT YOST TUESDAY

The next Association vaudeville bill which is booked for two days at the Yost theater starting Tuesday contains one of the most unique offerings in vaudeville entitled "Artistic Revelations" with Mlle. Nina heading the cast. Mlle. Nina is known as America's foremost Oriental dancer and is possessed of unusual charm and talent. She is youthful and beautiful which adds in no small degree to the attractiveness of this act. One of the outstanding features of the act is Frank Bacon's roller skate comedy turn which he calls "Three O'clock in the Morning." Bacon and his partner Sophie Fontaine, do some remarkable exhibitions of roller skating on the rubber wheel skates which are the invention of Bacon.

Singing parodies on popular song hits Morey Barton and Harry Young will certainly win the hearts of their audience. They are young men with exceptional voices and their repertoire is wide enough to provide entertainment for an entire evening.

Pierce and Roslyn is one of the oldest musical combinations in vaudeville. For many years they have been entertaining audiences all over the world. They call their act "A Whirl of Melody" and considering the fact that they have mastered the concertina, banjo, steel guitar and piano to say nothing of a few other minor instruments it would seem that they are justified in their billing. They have a number of suitable costume changes and manage to introduce some delightful comedy talk in their act.

Miss Maybelle Phillips, "The Sunshine Girl," has long been a favorite with vaudeville audiences for her kid impersonations in song and story. She has a charming personality and when she does her crying child imitation she takes the house by storm.

Joe Cody and Brother call themselves the "Comedy Mad Hatters" and if everyone used up hats the way these boys do the hat factories would be running overtime and straw would be worth more than wheat. They are also exceptionally clever with the Indian clubs and they make a flock of little rubber balls chase themselves all over the stage obeying their every wish.

'THE TALKER' GIVES
MR. MAN AN INNING

BY REVIEWER

The general tendency of the screen is so manifestly to allure, placate and entertain women, that men are given scant sympathy in any dramatic clash between the sexes on the silver sheet. As between husbands and wives, fathers and mothers or any male and female of the same station, the movie makes usually show the old chivalric partiality toward the female. They will not offend the touchy, emancipated and sometimes truculent American woman audience.

But occasionally, the husband is given a short inning—as in the picture, "The Talker," which closes tonight along with a splendid five-act vaudeville program.

Seldom in recent film annals has a woman been so satisfactorily won over, from the male standpoint, as the restless and non-reciprocal wife in "The Talker." Whipped, confounded and silenced she was, this wife who distilled devastation for herself and her intimates with her tongue. Humbled and penitent enough so that the MARYSVILLE, Calif., July 20.—To aid City Clerk Richards in making up his payroll for subordinates in the street, park and other departments of the city, the city council has placed a time clock in the city hall. The device is a second-hand affair and is intended to relieve the foreman of the task of keeping check on men under him.

SLOGAN IS SOUGHT FOR COUNTY FAIR

The small town variety show of thirty years ago, no matter how serious its pretensions were, furnishes ample material for burlesque when duplicated nowadays. Charles Withers' "Op'ry," the Orpheum headliner at Walker's theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, shows us vaudeville in its mere infancy. The magic lantern slides, movies with a "speller," Romeo and Juliet, with Juliet leaning out of the hay-loft, will invoke laughs of laughter.

Florence Tempest and Homer Dickinson in "Rain Beau," with a routine of lyric songs, bright repartee and fancy dancing, bring a sparkling offering. They are called "Broadway's Smart Couple" and they live up to that distinction in every way.

From the moment Lew Brice steps on the stage with his dance and song antics, old father care has to take a back seat and you'll forget you were ever blue. He's a guaranteed laugh producer.

Fred Bernard and Sid Garry prove to be very delightful "Southern Syncopators" with a couple of perfectly matched voices, offering some extremely clever dark-town impersonations, along with their "blues" and harmony.

When it comes to feats of strength, the Arco Brothers seem to have a corner on them. They toss each other about in the air, and balance on the merest suspicion of a support.

Orpheum Circuit vaudeville represents the very pinnacle of vaudeville artistry, and the showing of genuine Orpheum headliners direct from Los Angeles and San Francisco puts not only Santa Ana but all of Orange county in the metropolitan class.

"Head Winds," he screen version of the Saturday Evening Post story of the same name, features one of filmdom's most talented actors—House Peters, supported by Patsy Ruth Miller and a great cast.

When questioned in regard to the policy to be pursued by the city, Mayor George P. Wilson said that he would make no statement.

"We will consult with the city attorney," the mayor declared, "and rest our action on his advice. I will not talk for publication until the council meeting."

Mainly routine business will be brought before the city board of trustees. A number of matters are to be disposed of and reports probably will be heard on subjects referred to department at the last session.

terday. This strain, many friends of Connie Mack fear, may make his young men blow up in the stretch.

The Senators lost four out of their seven games last week. The club has missed Walter Johnson, who has been in poor health, and they naturally will have more power when he is able to work in his regular turn. Coveleski the Cleveland castoff, has been the biggest surprise of the season and has proved to be the mainstay of the team.

The St. Louis Browns, by winning six out of their seven games, moved into the first division and the Detroit Tigers, losing four out of their seven games, dropped into fifth place.

The Cincinnati Reds, who are making a season's record for ups and downs in the National league, moved to third place. The Reds won four out of their six games and displaced the Brooklyn Robins.

ARREST JEKYLL AND HYDE PAIR AS MURDERERS

To Collect Duty
On Cars Brought Over Border Line

SAN DIEGO, July 20.—Several automobile dealers in San Diego and nearby communities have been called to account by officials of the U. S. treasury department recently for failure to pay the government import tax when taking in trade second hand machines from the south side of the international boundary line, it was learned at the federal building here.

O. C. Macumber, special agent of the treasury department, revealed that these dealers have been requested to pay this tax, which is 25 per cent of the appraised value of the second-hand cars that have been turned in to them on account of new ones.

The law provides, according to Macumber, that this tax must be paid in all cases where the car is brought back by other than the former owner, or in other words, if it has changed ownership while in Mexico. Such cars are admitted free of duty if brought back by or for the person who took them over, the agent said.

Macumber pointed out that he is assessing no penalty but merely is requiring the dealers to pay the tax due the government under the federal statutes.

The agent asserted that there has been no intention to violate the law in any of the cases and the auto dealers were innocent of wrongdoing. The dealers merely did not know of this regulation and as a result were requested to call at the treasury department offices where it was explained to them and a request that they pay Uncle Sam what he has coming was made.

Series of Crimes
Haskell folks cannot understand, Goodman had a bright future before him, and he had the intelligence and the ability to make good in any field. His family is highly respected. And the same of Joe Brown, whose father owns a large cotton gin and is known as a substantial citizen.

Not even the officers of the law would have thought that either of these young men would ever be linked with a chain of crimes such as that described by Joe Brown in his confession to Dallas officers. The officers say he and Goodman worked hand in hand in stealing motor cars in Tulsa, and in robbing an automobile agency at Haskell of $3200 about a month ago.

Confession Is Complete
Word from the prosecutor's office in Dallas is that Brown's story has uncovered everything.

Goodman denies that he fired the shot that killed Swinney, the watchman.

He asserts the night watchman fired at him after stopping the pair and insisted a bullet from Brown's pistol struck Swinney.

His statement says both Goodman and Brown were in the vicinity of the shooting when the night watchman tried to stop them. Goodman explained he did not believe Swinney had a right to stop him and he started to walk away.

"He pulled his pistol," the statement said, "and I caught hold of his arm. Brown was on the other side of the street and fired at Swinney."

He said Swinney then turned and fired at him and a bullet from Brown's pistol struck Swinney. He and Brown, the statement continued, then closed in on Swinney, took his pistol away, and left the scene.

Montana, the bordering state of the park, was second highest in the number of cars entering, but carried a greater number of tourists than the California cars, with a registration being 632 cars, with a total of 1962 passengers.

Washington is accredited with third honors in registration, 274 cars and a total of 558 tourists.

Many of these are listed among the early pre-season travel, before June 18.

With the first month of the season showing registration from every state in the Union, with the exception of Vermont and New Hampshire, and from Alaska, Canada and Hawaii, park officials are looking forward to an exceptional year.

Road reports from every section of the country, and especially approaching the entrances to Yellowstone park, are coming in favorable every day. Many of these routes are now known to be in the best of condition and better than at any other period in their history.

Woman Keeper On Mountain Lookout

SATCHEL, Calif., July 20.—Mrs.

Daisy A. Parker is "at home" again at Sardine Lookout, above Serraville. Mrs. Parker, her two daughters, Irma and Sheila, with two kittens and a pack horse, have reached the lookout from Reno to begin the new season.

The lookout is a "little glass house" on the very top of Sardine peak, half a mile from water and three miles from the main road. The only connection with civilization is a telephone and a steep and winding trail.

Mrs. Parker held the position last year, remaining at her post from May until October, and she says "It seems just like getting home again." The forest reserve man said that I have a funny idea of home, but I mean it just the same."

The trio spent the winter in Reno, where the girls attended the high school.

EVENING SALUTATION

What shall Thine "afterward" be, O Lord.
For the moan that I cannot stay?
Shall it issue in some new song of praise,
Sweeter than sorrowful heart could raise.
When the night hath passed away?

Frances Ridley Havergal.

COMPANY F IS HOME

It is with pride that Santa Ana welcomes home its company of national guardsmen. The company in annual camp lived up to the traditions set by old Company L of this city—traditions that make for excellence. Company F is a good company, made up of sensible, upstanding young men, ready to answer the call of their country at any time and in any way.

Santa Ana has always had a good company of guardsmen. One may look over the business men of Santa Ana today and find among them dozens of men who had the benefit of training in companies of years gone by. None of them regrets the time he put in at drill and in the other activities of the company to which he belonged.

Company F is in the hands of officers who are capable and who are deeply interested in the welfare of their company. Individually, the members of the company have proven that they are good soldiers. Officers and men are deserving of the support of the community.

THE SUMMER CAMPS

The summer camps for boys conducted in the San Bernardino mountains by the County Boy Scouts organization and the Y. M. C. A. are now looked upon as permanent. The value of these camps has been fully demonstrated. They are an efficient agent in the molding of character and in the shaping of boy lives into useful citizenship.

The first essential in making a summer camp for boys a success is capable management. In that, the two camps in which local boys are interested have been successful. Camp routine, camp discipline and camp programs carried forward by men who understand the boy's attitude and the boy's needs, have proven their value.

It is a good thing for a boy to get back into the high mountains. It is a good thing for him to get acquainted with pine trees, manzanitas and birds, to know intimately the song of the stream and the tunes that the wind whistles through the high branches overhead. It is a good thing for him to be out with other boys that he may learn the lessons of co-operation and consideration that he can learn only through coming into contact with others under conditions that do not exaggerate his own importance.

FARM RESIDENTS

The farm population in the United States, the Department of Agriculture finds was 31,134,000 last January. That was 182,000 less than the January before, representing a loss of six-tenths of one per cent in a year.

There is nothing serious about this. The loss was less than for previous years, suggesting that a beginning has been made toward a movement back to the farms.

There are not so many people needed on the farms, anyway, as there used to be. Rapid improvement in farm machinery and methods make it possible for a steadily decreasing number of people to do the farm work.

Food enough for the nation seems to be produced as usual, with a good deal for export, and it will probably continue so. There is no very strong economic argument for repopulating farm areas on the old basis.

There is a good social argument, however. Other things being equal, it is better for people to live in the country than in the city. And a wholesome tendency is setting in that direction. So, although we shall have fewer people working on farms in the future, we shall probably have a great many more living on farms.

THE CRIMINAL CIRCLE

An investigating committee headed by former Attorney General Wickesham finds that American penal institutions are "handling the same material over and over again, locking up and turning out the same individuals." Also that three-fourths of those individuals are plainly recognizable cases of abnormal and defective minds.

Most of the prisoners, therefore, are not helped at all by the present system of imprisoning their bodies and ignoring their minds, and while they remain as they are, can hardly help committing further offenses when they are released. Their crimes and misdemeanors are mostly offenses of stupidity and mental sickness.

There has been little sympathy these last few years with any view which regarded our "criminal classes" as sick rather than wicked. Efforts to turn public attention to their minds rather than their crimes are likely to be criticised as efforts to "coddle criminals." Yet evidence submitted by such an eminent body of inquirers as the committee referred to cannot be ignored.

The New York World wonders, accordingly, whether it isn't time to get our minds off "crime" and turn our attention to "the criminal," and adds: "If most crime is traceable to pathological impulses, then applying retributive punishment is as sensible as flogging lunatics to drive the devils out."

CONSERVING TIRES

The tremendous rise in the cost of crude rubber, with the resulting rise in the price of automobile tires, plainly calls for economy. Tires must be made to go as far as possible during a rubber famine, as shoes must during leather famine. It is a good time to patronize the repair men and take extra precautions in caring for the tires. Here are some practical suggestions which may add thousands of miles to the life of a set of tires:

Keep them as free from oil as possible—the oil rots the rubber.

Look out, of course, for broken glass and nails.

Dig out foreign substances that are working themselves into the casing, and fill up the holes.

Keep the tires properly inflated—softness wears them out fast.

Be careful in driving over deep ruts or high bumps, lest the casing fabric break.

Be sure the wheels are in proper alignment;

otherwise there will be a rapid sidewise wear on the running surface.

When rear tire seems nearly gone, put it on a front wheel which has no traction and consequently makes less demand on the tire.

The life of an old casing may be considerably prolonged by getting a new inner tube for it.

The Final Cause

San Diego Union.

British miners have been offered what amounts to an 87 per cent interest in the mines where they are employed. They have rejected the offer, and are determined to go on a strike in which other leading British labor unions have promised to join. At first thought, this decision is incredible, for the general terms of the owners' offer to the mining federation include part ownership, for all practical purposes, of the mines themselves—with the legal owners assuming all the risks except that of unemployment. It is likely that the miners are not so much dissatisfied with this offer, as they are distrustful of the people who make it.

This distrust, often quite unreasonable, will be found at the bottom of most disputes between capital and labor. Because of this distrust, it is often the fact that the most obviously reasonable efforts to adjust differences are complete failures.

The distrust—and the unreasonableness, too—are about as often on one side as on the other. In this country, we have smoothed over a great deal of the traditional antagonism between capital and labor. Prosperity has proved the common interests that link the two. Yet occasionally this deep distrust comes to the surface, and a dispute that seemingly might be settled in half an hour at the conference table, becomes the ostensible cause of an industrial war.

It is to the interest of all parties—capital, labor and the public—to eliminate this ancient cause of unrest; and it is well for all to remember that the only way to eliminate it is to eliminate all cause for it. No secure, permanent relation can be founded on deceit. The British misunderstanding may be quite unreasonable, in the present instance, but a fight will only perpetuate that distrust. Fair dealing alone can finally remove it.

Golden Rule Is Urged

Pasadena Star-News.

Keep faith with China—see that China protects lives and interests of foreigners. This is the gist of the policy of the United States government in dealing with the crisis in the ancient land. The government at Washington has sent a circular note to the powers signatory to the Washington Conference treaties bearing upon relations with and conditions in China, asking that a conference be held immediately, in accordance with provisions of these treaties. The conference would be for the purpose of considering the Chinese customs tariff and for the creation of a commission to study and report on the question of extra-territoriality.

The American government would keep faith completely with China, in the spirit of these treaties. On the other hand, this government insists that the responsible authorities in China protect Americans and other foreigners in China in their lives and in possession of their properties. This policy is evenly balanced, and is imbued with the spirit of the Golden Rule. The United States is the traditional friend of China. But in the frenzied outbreaks, fostered by radical influences and accentuated by the rising spirit of nationalism among the more intelligent Chinese, Americans have been attacked the same as other foreigners. The policy of the United States government, if accepted promptly by the powers, should convince China that this country is its friend and that attacks upon Americans and other foreigners are wholly unwarranted and productive of serious trouble for China.

Discouraging Banditry

Long Beach Press-Telegram.

Fewer bank robberies and hold-ups have occurred in Southern California during recent months than in preceding periods. Causes of this improved condition may be found in the more vigilant attitude of the police, the fact that a number of lawless individuals have been slain at their tracks, and that Governor Richardson has announced that under no circumstances except where the interests of justice demand, will there be any consideration for murderers who have been sentenced to execution.

Banditry can be discouraged when the public is aroused to the necessity for such a course. This has been proved in Iowa, where in 1920 there were fifty-six bank robberies, with losses of about $250,000. When bandits were captured they were given light sentences and quick commutations. Then Iowa bankers armed nearly 4000 vigilantes, who policed 781 towns. Last year there were not more than a half dozen such robberies in Iowa, with total losses of $250. Eighty out of eighty-nine bank robbers have been killed or convicted, and every man of them sent to prison is still there. As a result, Iowa bankers are paying $1 per thousand for bank insurance, while in Illinois, where there is no such protection, the rate in May of this year was $4 per thousand. Illinois now is preparing to follow Iowa's example, and other States of the central region are doing likewise.

That the same ends can be attained by the organized forces of the law when they are properly manned and equipped has been proved in California, and in various States and communities where greater attention has been given to the problems of policing. Vigilantes should be unnecessary in any law abiding and law respecting city; and where resort is made to such emergency patrols there must be recognition of weakness in governmental administration.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

FOR PERSPIRING FEET

In addition to the embarrassment caused by the odor from perspiring feet, the person is likely to suffer from aching and burning feet because of the tenderness of the skin.

An absolutely sure remedy for the perspiration is impossible for all persons. However, here is a solution which has proved effective in a majority of cases where it has been tried.

Tannin, 30 drams; lycopodium, 3 drams; alum, 1 dram.

Another solution is made from oxide of zinc, 1 ounce; starch, 2 ounces; salicylic acid, 1 dram; talcum powder, 7 ounces; oil of wintergreen, 5 drams. Mix these well, adding the oil last.

These solutions should be made by a druggist unless the person is equipped with an apothecary scales.

When the feet burn from long standing, soak them in a basin of warm water in which two tablespoons of baking soda has been dissolved.

The warm soda water softens and relaxes the tissues and opens the pores, allowing the undue quantity of blood, present in the feet, to disperse.

WOULDNT ARGUE THE POINT

The "small part" man was ill and a stage hand had been instructed to deliver his lines (or words) "off."

His cue came after the anguished hero had cried out: "Alas!

What can have happened to the Lady Ermyntrude?"

"Lady Ermyntrude?" answered the stage hand, hoarsely.

"Why, she's dead."

"No, no; it cannot be; it is impossible," protested the hero, melodramatically.

"Aw right, then," came the indignant reply; "if you don't believe me, ask the stage manager."

The Small Town's Problem

Kansas City Times.

The necessity of maintaining a proper balance between rural and urban population was stressed in a talk made at Linn Creek, Mo., before the Central Missouri Press Association by W. W. Gillum, a small town banker of Barnett, who has won a state-wide reputation for his work in community building.

One of the big economic and social questions confronting the nation, Mr. Gillum said, is, "What is to become of the small town and farm population?" He pointed out this subject is of as much importance to the larger centers of population as it is to the small town.

Every year thousands of the best young men and women of the country stream to the cities. Only a very small per cent succeed in the cities. These young people might have been much better off had they remained in the small town or on the farm. The city-bound stream of population could be stemmed somewhat, perhaps, if the rural inhabitants were informed of the failures instead merely of the rural who succeed.

While no solution was offered by the speaker, he suggested community building as one means of keeping the ambitious young men and women at home. No community is too small to be susceptible to organized effort to improve business and living conditions. The editors alone cannot do it. The best results can be attained only through group action, in which all citizens of the small town unite to improve the local living and working conditions.

The salvation of the small community lies entirely with the people themselves. The communities which fail to awaken to the importance of motor car transportation and the mail order house, and to take steps to meet the competition of the larger centers of population, eventually must join the ranks of the abandoned and forgotten towns, rapidly increasing the last few years.

Worth While Verse

TO MY MOTHER

The moths of dusky Burma, red as lees of wine, cobalt and emerald, yet stay

In old shawls folded carefully away,

As lumps of amber bury golden bees,

And carven fans hide in their traceries

Perfume of sandal, and though far astray

The keen voluted shell echoes the sway

And whisper of the many motioned seas.

So my heart holds the character and print

Of thy illustrious life, and not alone

I work my wayward destiny, a hint

Of beauty yet persists, and every one

Of all my deeds is shaped by your mint,

Keeping you ever near though long time gone.
